SAVE THE DATE

Thursday – MAY 14th 2020

Where? Faculty of Agriculture, Food and Environment, Rehovot

Symposium: Resilience of Mediterranean vegetation to climate change: From the individual to the ecosystem

Keynote speaker: Fernando T. Maestre
University of Alicante, Spain (dryland vegetation ecologist)

What? Ecology & Ecophysiology of individuals, populations, and community organization, biodiversity, invasion, ecosystem biogeochemistry, resource management, and conservation.

Who? Researchers, students, land managers, conservationists, and everybody interested in vegetation and climate change

For more details contact: efrat.Sheffer@mail.huji.ac.il